

As a...	I want to...	So that...
Person who has been tasked with homework on the solar system and who has a short attention span and is not really interest in space or astrophysics.	To be able to navigate the website easily and be able to search for specific planets or subject matters. I also need images, videos and quick information to help me as I am a visual learner.	I can complete my weekend homework and be able to learn about the solar system and do a short presentation to my class on Monday morning.
